C COLLAR DETAILS

If you don't have a collar already, you must measure your pet's neck for accurate fit. We will choose a size based on this measurement. See page 2 for details. If you have a collar, add quantity to your preferred pattern and size below.

Neck:  inches or  I already have one in the size below:

Before you order

Kitty Kollars® come in six sizes. The majority of cats will wear either petite or small, while the tiny toy dogs and larger dogs wear extra small and the other sizes. Each kollar has a Velcro tab, making it adjustable, but the better the fit the more comfortable the kollar will be, especially in the smaller sizes. So it is important that you measure your animal's neck and not guess.

Measuring your pet

- Chances are your pet will already have some bandages on the neck; you need to try to measure UNDER the bandages, or you can measure just in front (the ear side, not the tail side) of where the bandages start.
- To measure your pet, wrap a tape measure or string firmly but not tightly around his neck.
- Tubes are standardly placed on the left side of the neck. If your vet has placed your pet's tube on the right side, contact us for a custom device.
- If your pet's e-tube is longer than 8-9 inches you may wish to order a Double Velcro Kollar. Another option is to shorten your tube, using our adapters: www.kittykollar.com/accessories

Syringes

We have sourced the very best syringes to help make your feedings easier, faster and safer. The o-ring syringe silicone material is smoother (and won't harden like rubber) so it will glide reliably for hundreds of uses.
